HARRISBURG, Pa. – The Susquehanna River Basin Commission (SRBC) today announced that all SRBC-approved projects and pending water withdrawal and consumptive use applications are now available on the commission's web site at www.srbc.net/wrp/Default.aspx.

The user-friendly web site allows viewers to locate information using an interactive map or through other search functions, including typing in the names of project sponsors. Viewers also can sign up to receive project updates through RSS Feed.

The Harrisburg-based SRBC (www.srbc.net) was established under an interstate compact signed on December 24, 1970 by the federal government and New York, Pennsylvania and Maryland to manage the water resources of the 27,510-square-mile Susquehanna River Basin. The Susquehanna River starts in Cooperstown, N.Y., and flows 444 miles to Havre de Grace, Md., where the river meets the Chesapeake Bay.
